

5 THINGS I WISH I HAD KNOWN ABOUT_

TEACHING TEENAGERS

RAPPORT IS KEY

An open classroom is a relaxed classroom, conducive to teaching and learning. Learners need to feel safe and comfortable with you and their peers.

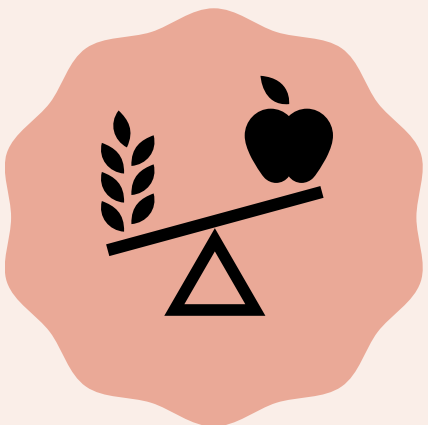

MOTIVATION

Learning should be fun. At this particular age, a lot of students will be feeling the pressure of school and lectures, and lose their motivation. Make learning fun to keep them engaged.

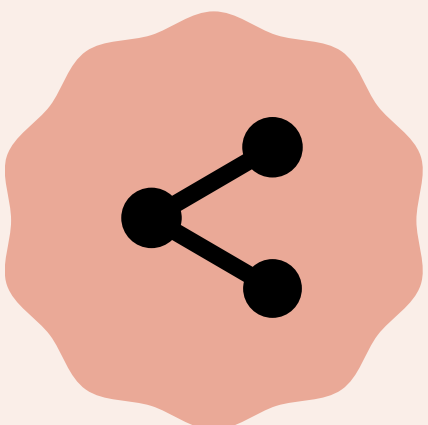

WORK WITH THEM

If a situation does arise where tempers are frayed, use it as an opportunity to touch base with that particular student when class has finished and find out what the issue is.

GIVE THEM CHOICES

By giving your students options and choices, you will foster a sense of autonomy and boost their intrinsic motivation.

SHARE YOUR THOUGHTS

Sharing experiences and tips is a great way to develop your teaching skills.
